Teaching is the noblest profession. The people who have been working as teachers are fortunate enough to perform their sacred duties. They rightly carry the responsibility of developing the proper character, values and sense of responsibility among their students. Apart from it, they always prefer to develop the level of intellect of their students. They inculcate different qualities like honesty, sincerity, punctuality, politeness a kindness among their students. They teach the students to differentiate between virtue and vice, positive and negative, good and bad help them to be a wise person. It is impossible to inculcate all these qualities among the students without teacher and therefore, students also like to emulate their teachers. Besides a teacher always remains young. He may grow old in age but not in spirit. Perpetual contact with budding youths keeps him happy and cheerful. There are moments when domestic worries weigh heavily on his mind but the delightful company of innocent children makes his overcome his transient moods of despair.
